Frank Valeriote hits the ground running

Guelph residents will soon have a fully operational constituency office, says Guelph's Member of Parliament elect Frank Valeriote.

"It is my objective to have the constituency office open and providing service to Guelph at the earliest possible opportunity," said Valeriote. "It was an exciting election campaign. While I have been recently engaged in orientation sessions in Ottawa and setting up our office space, I'm looking forward to getting down to the business of representing this great community and serving Canada as soon as possible. In light of the economic crisis, I will be making every effort to ensure this Conservative government is held to account on the issues that matter in Guelph."

The Guelph Constituency Office, which is located at 40 Cork Streek East, downtown Guelph, is expected to be open upon completion of minor renovations and after Valeriote is officially sworn in as Member of Parliament. While construction safety issues will prevent public access, in the meantime, residents are welcome to contact Valeriote via e-mail at valerf@parl.gc.ca. After November 11, inquiries are welcome at (519) 837-8276.

"There is no doubt that Guelph has enormous potential. My energy will be focused on building on the opportunities that are essential to our community's future prosperity, while also ensuring those who are vulnerable receive the necessary resources and assistance to improve their quality of life," said Valeriote.
